Miners Protest New Labor Law By Quitting Jobs

Report Nearly Half Miners
Absent From Work In Coal Fields Today

MANY OF MINES ARE SHUT DOWN

(BULLETIN)
PITTSBURGH, June 24.—(INS)—Nearly 50 per cent of the soft coal miners in the nation refused to work today in protest to the Senate's enactment of the Taft-Hartley labor bill over President Truman's veto.

Shortly after noon today the Navy coal mines administration in charge of the Appalachian region reported 190,000 miners laid down their tools and quit work over the alleged anti-labor bill.

Illinois reported an estimated 23,000 miners, members of the United Mine Workers and the Progressive Mine Workers, had walked off the job.

Half Million Tons Lost

Production loss was estimated at half a million tons.

At the same time coal mine operators feared the work stoppage would spread to encompass almost all of the nation's bituminous fields by nightfall.

The coal mines administration officials said the walkouts were gaining hourly, adding that all were orderly and no violence had been reported.

All Alabama mines were closed.

Pa Newc Observes

At certain times of the year temperatures are almost identical with the preceding year. Yesterday's temperature was but one degree different from the same date a year ago in June.

Pa Newc notes that there are still some good-sized holes in downtown alleys which are most annoying to motorists. Repairs have been made in some places, but in others they seem to be neglected.

The heavy rains of the past two months have caused grass and weeds to grow to unprecedented heights. This is evident on vacant lots, and some sidewalks are almost impassable in these spots because of the high weeds.

A number of jalopies, that look as though they would hardly hold together for the next mile are passing through the city. One old car, heavily laden with baggage on the outside and a number of passengers inside, bearing Indiana license plates was observed on the East Side this morning.

Pre-war traveling experiences are being re-enacted by local motorists it is learned by Pa Newc. During the war, when a tire blew out or became punctured, the drivers were forced to get out and do their own repairs or ride home on the rim. One motorist suffering a blowout, put in an S.O.S. call to a local garage and quickly a new tire and tube were dispatched to the scene of the trouble.

More than one resident has been heard to wonder audibly recently whether trash cans on more of the city's corners would encourage the people who walk along the street spreading a litter of paper and wrappers behind them to put them instead in the containers. They think it would be nice if our sidewalks and streets were kept as spic and span neat as possible just for the sake of our city's appearance, as it were. And what's this about business places making the sweepings from indoors and the sidewalk into the street?

World Police Force Plans Are Delayed

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., June 24.—Russian objections loomed today as a delaying influence in the United Nations' 18-month effort to form an international police force to maintain world peace.

The Security Council will meet this afternoon to continue consideration of the military staff committee report, containing the basic principles behind the force.

Delegates planned to proceed cautiously because they are well aware that the Soviet Union does not see eye to eye with the western powers on the make up of such an international police force.

Invite Russian Veto
They realize that to press for a vote too quickly would be to invite a Russian veto.

Deer Family On North Beaver Farm

A North Beaver Township farm owned by Harris B. McClelland boasts a rare family—a mother deer and her three children.

One morning while fixing a fence near a section of timber, McClelland was startled by a peculiar noise. Looking up, he saw a deer standing a few feet outside of the timber. The deer made the "peculiar noise" again, and a tiny fawn appeared at her side.

"I remained motionless and watched," said McClelland. "At first the fawn looked like a large furry cat creeping through the long grass."

In a few moments two more fawn joined the mother, McClelland states that he has seen the deer several times, and that they seem extraordinarily tame.

Export Controls Of Oil Are Again Imposed By U. S.

Action Taken To Meet
Threatened Nationwide
Shortage Of Oil

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Shipments of American oil and gasoline to foreign countries including Russia were hit today as the United States reimposed wartime export controls on petroleum products to combat the threatened nationwide oil shortage.

The move came in the wake of congressional criticism of the petroleum shipments to Russia and as one member of congress threatened legislative action to halt the supplies.

Rep. Shafer (R) Mich., served notice shortly before the announcement that unless President Truman stopped such exports to the Soviet by noon today he would initiate congressional action. Shafer is chairman of a house subcommittee investigating Russian oil shipments.

Will Be Controlled
All shipments of oil to the Soviet will not be halted by the controls but they will be subject to the discretion of the commerce department.

The controls go into effect June 30, twenty four hours before the emergency law authorizing such export regulations is slated to expire.

According to commerce figures petroleum exports during the first four months of this year averaged about the same as last year despite the threatened shortage which already had curtailed army and navy flying programs and brought the prospect of rationing.

The department reported that Russia had purchased 175,224 barrels of petroleum products for export to Siberia during the first quarter of 1947.

In addition, however, Russia was in the process of dispatching 12 huge 50,000 barrel tankers to the west coast to purchase petroleum for shipment to Vladivostok. At least one of these vessels has already loaded and departed.

A commerce department spokesman revealed that the Soviet anticipated buying one million barrels of oil in the United States when tankers could fly to Vladivostok and northern Russian harbors.

Reimposition of the export controls was announced by the office of International Trade of the Commerce Department after a series of conferences with the state and interior departments.

Life Sentence For Youth Who Murdered Four

(BULLETIN)
LAPEER, Mich., June 24.—(INS)—Oliver Terpening, 16-year-old Michigan farm boy, was sentenced to life imprisonment today after pleading guilty to the murder of four playmates during a wildflower picking expedition.

Circuit Judge George W. Desjardins passed sentence on the slender youth after finding him sane.

Oliver was taken into custody 24 hours after his four neighbors, Barbara Smith, 16, and her sisters and brother, Gladys, 13, Janet, 2, and Stanley 14 were found dead in the flower fields on May 26.

The youth appeared pale and bewildered when sentence was issued but he showed no outward emotion as he stood before the bench.

A deputy sheriff immediately escorted Oliver from the courtroom and took him to Jackson prison where the confessed murderer will start serving his sentence immediately.

Governor Signs More New Laws

One Bill, Is In Effort To Clarify New Soft Drinks
Tax

HARRISBURG, June 24.—(INS)—Legislation to clarify the new soft drinks tax, challenged in a Dauphin County court suit, today carried Gov. James H. Duff's stamp of approval.

The measure specifically exempted fountain syrups manufactured exclusively for sundae toppings from the half-cent an ounce levy on soft drinks flavorings.

The penny tax on bottled carbonated drinks up to 12 ounces and the impost on syrups used for soft drinks was labeled an "excise" levy.

One of the points on which the constitutionality of the levy was challenged in a taxpayers' suit was that it constituted a property tax.

The levy was designed to return $35,000,000 during the 1947-49 biennium.

To Answer July 14
The Commonwealth has until July 14 to answer the allegations.

Originally scheduled to reply yesterday, the Justice Department sought postponement in hopes that the clarifier would strengthen its case.

Another bill endorsed by Duff permitted group health and accident insurance to be written for as few as 25 persons and extended group coverages to schools, scout troops, colleges and other institutions, unions, fraternal and business groups. The smallest group that (Continued on Page Two)

Congress Will Probe U. S. Price Conditions And Demands Abroad

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, June 24.—Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, said today that President Truman's appointment of a foreign aid advisory body would not alter Congress' own plans to examine domestic price conditions in the light of requirements abroad.

Hearings before the joint committee on the economic report open today with Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors Corp. and S. Sloan Colt, president of the Bankers Trust Co. New York, the initial witnesses. Taft is chairman of the price-stabilization study group.

Taft said he had no immediate plan to ask the 19 leaders of business, labor, agriculture, education and research named by Mr. Truman to appear before the House-Senate committee.

To Testify Wednesday
Significantly, however, Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker Corp. and chairman of the committee for economic development, already had been scheduled by the congressional group to testify on Wednesday. Hoffman was one of the 19 men chosen by the president to advise him on how much aid can "safely and wisely" be sent overseas.

Confessional Republicans, Taft included, believe that foreign aid inevitably is linked in any appraisal (Continued on Page Two)

New Labor Law Shifts Spotlight To White House

President Truman Must Begin Implementing Statute Which Became Law Over Veto

LABOR PREPARES TO CONTEST LAW

(BULLETIN)
By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(INS)—President Truman today called members of the National Labor Relations Board to the White House as a wave of walk-outs in protest against Senate enactment of the vetoed Taft-Hartley bill spread throughout the east.

It was certain that the mounting demonstrations against the labor reform measure would be discussed at Mr. Truman's meeting with NLRB officials, called for 3:30 p. m. (EDT).

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The labor spotlight shifted today to the White House where President Truman must begin implementing the new Taft-Hartley statute which became law over his strongest protests.

Under the law, which Mr. Truman denounced as unworkable and likely to foment industrial strife, the president is charged with making 16 appointments to government labor posts. They are:

Two new members of the National Relations Board which will administer the sharply revised Wagner Act; an NLRB general counsel; a director of the new federal mediation service, and a 12-man labor-management panel to advise the director.

Senate Must Confirm Some
The first four appointees must be confirmed by the Senate which joined the House Monday in overriding Mr. Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley legislation, 68 to 25.

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, expressed doubt that the president would consult Congress in making the appointments, but Sen. Ball (R) Minn., said he thought that such advance consultation would be "very wise."

Mr. Truman is empowered to make the NLRB appointments at once, (Continued on Page Two)

Drives His Auto Into Lake; Drowns

PITTSBURGH, June 24.—(INS)—The coroner's office reported today that Frank Cio, 30, of suburban Patton Township, was drowned last night when he drove his car into Boyd Hill lake near his home.

Two boys, swimming in the lake, told officers Cio was driving along the bank when he suddenly turned at right angles and drove into the water.

Two of his brothers aided volunteer firemen in pulling the car part way out of the lake 25 minutes after it submerged. Efforts to revive Cio were futile.

Fleeing Man Falls To Death

PITTSBURGH, June 24.—(INS)—A suspected thief, fleeing Pittsburgh, was dead today, victim of a fall over a cliff in his haste to escape.

Officers said Brent H. Denby, 40, of Pittsburgh, suffered a skull fracture and crushed chest when he tumbled over the cliff yesterday.

They said he was one of two men caught rifling a truck driven by Ralph Kelson. As Denby fled, two officers Kelson had summoned fired four shots at him. He leaped over a fence, and tumbled off the cliff.

I thought my golfing days were past, I'd put the club away, for it has seemed in recent years I had on time to play. The young man has discovered golf, thinks it is quite a game, and confidently I'd say, I've always thought the same. So now I'm trying to show him some of my old golfing tricks, but gosh, I'm rusty at the game—the weather's seventy-six.

Duff Warns Of Tobacco, Liquor Bootleg Crackdown

HARRISBURG, June 24.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff served notice today the state was ready to crack down hard on cigarette and liquor bootleggers.

The governor said the commonwealth would "take examples of persons no matter who they may be" bringing in tax-free goods from other states.

"Those who insist on engaging in these activities must risk their trade," Duff emphasized. Duff said importers of contraband articles would be subject to indictment for conspiracy to violate laws under the penal code as well as $25 fines or prison sentences of one day for each dollar of unpaid fines under legislation signed by the governor yesterday.

The governor said he had received reports of bootlegging but was unable to determine how widespread activities had become.

Major Concern

The failure of the Moscow regime to implement the Potsdam agreement by unifying Germany's economy, though two years have elapsed since that agreement was made, has been a matter of major concern to United States officials.

Another disturbing factor has been the obvious effort to Moscow to tie the economy of eastern and central Europe in with her own.

In view of these circumstances, economic experts wonder how far Russia will go in the proposed Paris talks.

SENTENCE SEVEN IN SAFE CRACKING ROBBERIES HERE

Fined $1 and costs and eleven to twenty-two months in the Allegheny County Workhouse. No charge of burglary was placed against Largo but it was the gun which he had sold to Emerson Reno which was the opening wedge in the solution of the case.

The first six young men also received sentences of from one to two years in the penitentiary for other burglary charges but these run concurrently with the sentences shown above and hence add nothing to the original sentence.

Nine Burglaries

Nine burglaries in all were charged against the six men. On some counts two or three of them were named, but all of them were named on more than one count of burglary.

The burglaries included the following: Strouse-Hirschberg store, January 1. Six pen and pencil sets valued at $150.

Strouse-Hirschberg Company, January 15, $3,978.94 in money and $50 worth of property. Two charges were made in this case, Louis Charles, now on the west coast being named as the defendant.

Fisher's Big Store, February 9. No amount given.

Lebo's Women's Apparel, March 7, 1947, $50 in money.

Marshaletta's Hardware and Electric Company, March 7, 1947. No amount given.

MINERS PROTEST NEW LABOR LAW BY QUITTING JOBS

West Virginia reported 195 pits idle. Kentucky had 175 and Pennsylvania reported 80 steel company, captive and commercial mines shut down. Eastern Ohio, the West Virginia Panhandle and Illinois had a total of 55 mines that were not being worked.

Idle In Southern States

Lieut. T. N. Fortson, in charge of NCMA District No. 2 at Ashland, Ky., reported 35,000 miners idle in southern West Virginia, 30,000 in Kentucky and 16,500 in Alabama. He said there were some mines closed in Tennessee but his survey was incomplete.

The officer reported most mines in western Kentucky were working. At Fairmont, W. Va., Lt. Cmdr. R. H. Behnke, head of the rich West Virginia Panhandle area, said about 20 mines were down in his area. Behnke added that other mines were not operating but this was due to a shortage of coal cars.

An official of the coal mines administration said:

"The situation looks serious. The men are walking out faster than we can tabulate the reports. An accurate estimate probably will not be available until tonight."

General Counsel Resigns

Gerhard P. Van Arkel, present general counsel of the NLRB, asserting that he possessed "grave doubts concerning both the workability and the fairness of this act."

The new law gives the board counsel final and independent authority to investigate unfair labor practice complaints, bring charges and prosecute cases. Sen. Taft denied, however, that the NLRB official will become a " czar" over the nation's labor relations.

Organized labor's reaction to final enactment of the new labor measure was swift and angry. AFL President William Green declared that Congress had made "a tragic mistake" and pledged the federation to campaign for the law's repeal.

CIO President Philip Murray called a session of the CIO executive board for Friday to "assess the situation" and directed CIO General Counsel Lee Pressman to convene a meeting of all the organization's legal representatives for Thursday.

Lawsuits Likely

Labor is expected to launch a flood of lawsuits challenging constitutionality of much of the new law.

In Pennsylvania, Alabama, West Virginia and Virginia, hundreds of coal miners went on strike in protest against the Senate's action on the labor bill veto. A full-fledged mine shutdown may occur nationally next month to provide the first test of the law's machinery to prevent national emergency strikes.

The powerful CIO National Maritime union announced that "we will fight this bill with everything we've got if any attempt is made to deprive our union conditions, won with sweat and blood of the seamen over the past 15 years."

Earl Bunting, president of the National Association of Manufacturers said, however, that Congress "carried out the clear mandate of the American people."

Some Provisions Of Law

The Taft-Hartley law establishes unfair labor practices by unions for the first time; outlaws jurisdictional strikes and boycotts; bans the closed shop; prohibits union political activity; curbs employee welfare funds; denies foremen Wagner Act rights and requires union financial reports.

The emergency section of the law authorizes Mr. Truman to direct the attorney-general to obtain a court injunction to block major strikes for 80 days. Federal labor officials doubt that it will prevent a mine shutdown when the government-unions contract expires June 30.

Sen. Taft admitted that there was some "question" as to the law's effectiveness in the current coal dispute.

Negotiations between John L. Lewis and the mine owners for a private contract suspended three weeks ago, but may be resumed shortly now that final action has come on the Taft-Hartley bill.

The government may be virtually without any conciliation machinery when the coal walkout occurs. The new federal mediation service is not scheduled to become operative for 60 days.

a Russian veto and therefore bring efforts to achieve an international police force to an abrupt end.

The basic point of argument between Russia and the west is in Article 11 of the military staff committee's report.

The United States, Great Britain, France and China all are agreed that the Big Five shall make a "comparable" overall contribution to the police force—although they may differ as to strength on land, sea and air.

Soviet Russia, however, insists that all contributions by the Big Five must be absolutely equal. They contend the American principle would "lead to advantages in the positions of certain states."

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Situation Faced By Truman Difficult

WASHINGTON, June 24.—In sending the Taft-Hartley labor bill to the White House, the Republicans in Congress were in effect saying to Mr. Truman: Heads I win, tails you lose. From the point of view of 1946 politics, they stood to gain whether the bill became law or whether it was rejected.

A little background, plus a glance ahead, makes clear why this was so. There was hardly a chance, once the measure was given the proper aura of moderation and reasonableness, that the end result for the Truman administration would be anything but a red entry in the political balance sheet.

One of the most persuasive arguments for a veto came from Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug. In a letter to the president, he analyzed the labor bill in relation to the coal situation—and since coal means John L. Lewis, Krug undertook to measure the effects of the legislation against his guess as to Lewis' intentions.

Strong Possibility

The strong possibility, as Krug outlined it to the president, is for a coal strike. It may not come next week, when Krug surrenders the coal mines to private ownership. The northern operators may settle with the United Mine Workers' union, leaving him free to crack down on the southern operators.

POURING AT TEA

Question: I have been asked to "pour" at a fifteenth wedding anniversary tea. Won't you tell me just how to go about this—where to place the napkins, the spoon, etc.?

Answer: Ask the guest how she prefers her tea. Pour some into her cup, adding hot water if she prefers it weak. Next, ask her preference for cream or lemon, putting in sugar to her liking. Place a spoon on the saucer with its handle parallel to that of the cup. This cup, saucer and spoon combination should be placed on the tea plate with the napkin on the side, not under the cup and saucer. The tea is then handed to the guest who finds a chair, if possible, that she may drink in comfort.

Question: When I enter a public dining room and am seated by a waiter or a hostess should I thank him or her for this service?

Answer: This is not necessary since such service is in line with their regular duties. Thank them for any special service given.

Question: At what time of day is it permissible to serve a buffet meal?

Answer: At any time—at breakfast served at noon; luncheon at one or two o'clock; or supper in the evening, as well as at an afternoon reception.

Question: Is it correct for the groom to kiss the bride at the altar after the ceremony?

Answer: Yes, but this custom is fading. The groom should be the first to kiss the bride and this should be remembered by guests who rush to the bride as she leaves the church.

THE ONLY WAY

My father was a simple man. He said: "The only way he knew was this—to do the best you can. With any task you're asked to do."

"You'll never know unless you learn. For knowledge is by study gained. And skill is something you must earn. By practice only it's attained."

"You'll never move while standing still. Or reach a goal by stopping short. A pint of effort never will. Be worth as much as is the quart."

"Improve yourself!" my father said. "That surely will improve your pay. Work hard and you will get ahead; Believe me, there's no other way." (Copyright, 1947, Edgar A. Guest)

A WELL PROTECTED COUNTY
The school children of our county are well protected against smallpox. Our school medical examiners have found that every pupil has been vaccinated.

Smallpox is just around the corner all the time. Vaccination is our best protection. There are always a few persons in the county who have not been vaccinated. They are a source of danger to themselves and everybody else.

When a smallpox epidemic starts up, people get scared and rush for vaccination. The time for vaccination is always now. Anyone who has not been vaccinated should see about it now.

"Kick In The Pants"

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PRESCHOOL MEDICAL CHECK-UP

Now is the time to prepare your child for entering school next September. Thanks to the summer round-up program of the Parent-Teachers Association, many tots old enough to enter kindergarten or first grade next fall have been checked physically and their parents have been told of any surgical or medical needs.

If your child has not been reached by this program you should have your own dentist and doctor examine him at once and give him the necessary dental and medical care immediately. If adenoids or diseased tonsils are to be removed, for example, early summer is the best time, giving the child ample time for recovery. For many a young child beginning school may be strained enough without the hampering of remedial physical defects.

Dentist and Doctor

Also children of school age, even of high school age, should have a once-over now by the family dentist and doctor and such dental and medical care as is advised by them.

Summer is a good time to build up, with the doctor's guidance, the malnourished or nervous child. With ample play in the sunlight, this child also needs regular rest periods and sleep. Very excitable children, especially those who bite their nails or stutter, should be required during the summer to be quiet without radio or playmates for a few hours each afternoon. For practically all children, indeed, such rest periods would be helpful, not only to them but to their mothers.

Regulate the use of the radio and protect the child from the gory programs on the air. Children of school age should be required to do some regular jobs about the home daily.

Attitude Toward School

Build up in the young child (who will begin school in September) a hopeful attitude toward school. Be sure that when you have trouble at disciplining him you do not say such a silly thing as "Wait till you get to school and your teacher will make you mind." Also protect him, if possible, from fearful things told him about school by older children.

Discipline your child properly now, to have due regard for the rights and possessions of others and respect for authority. Train him to stay out of the street and to play within definite boundaries. Hold him rigidly to routines as to bedtime and coming into the house in the evening on some automatic signal. Cultivate self-reliance in him and make him as independent of you emotionally as you can. Set the stage so he will play with a number of children of his own age. Encourage him to color and draw and make things for fun. Read some to him every day.

"The public has come to expect the impossible in pictures," asserts a motion picture producer. If so, the public is rarely disappointed.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

From Me To You

By MESEKALL

Rain . . . makes things like wheat, oats, corn and hay grow . . . but too much rain might stop the growing . . . on those items mentioned . . . But one item for sure rain will not stop growth on . . . and that's the famous enemy of all gardeners . . . the mighty weed. And brother they are sure growing these days. Not only in vegetable gardens but in fields and vacant lots . . . especially vacant lots about the city . . . BUT we also notice that some power is causing some of these vacant lots to be sheared of their weed dress . . . The city to be exact is causing their property to be cleared of weeds which in a very short time if left standing bring untold suffering to pollen conscious citizens.

Those citizens who own vacant lots should also do or cause to be done the elimination of weeds, high grass and the like from their property. If this would be done it would not only help those who suffer with hay fever but it would make the community look neater.

A few weeks ago we bought a piece of property that had been standing idle for a great number of years . . . and you would be surprised what condition that property is in . . . All the neighbors for miles around must have used that lot to dispose of their furnace ashes . . . and broken bottles . . . why it looks like a tornado had hit the state spirit store . . . Many other vacant lots are in the same condition.

And checking a little further . . . we have found this past week situations where motorists have traveled along streets in the city and have thrown old beer bottles out on some of the finer lawns . . . and have smashed the bottles on street curbs. This not only shows poor taste but it indicates the ignorance of some people . . . who if they had the same thing done to their property would probably blow a fuse fusing about it . . . If you don't believe trash on lawn story . . . just check North Mercer street almost any day . . . Butler avenue gets its share too . . . so let's all be a little more careful.

Hints On Etiquette

Don't be a guest in the home of a newly wed pair, eat the bride's cooking and then offer the old family cookbook of recipes—especially if you are one of the in-laws.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

I wish my wife would stop telling me to eat vegetables.
I simply don't like vegetables, that's all.

And do you know why I think I don't like vegetables?
Because, since my earliest childhood I have always been told they are good for me.

When I was a kid they didn't know much about vitamins, so at least I was spared the necessity of hearing what vitamin B would do and vitamin C and vitamin D.

But Mother always used to say: "Eat your vegetables, they are good for you."

Having been a pretty fresh youngster, I am told, and even at the tender age of five having shown signs of becoming a newspaperman by sticking my nose into other people's business and always wanting to know the "why" of everything, I naturally asked Mother why vegetables were good for me.

I don't remember that she ever gave me a better answer than "because," that having been the final answer of every woman since Eve when she didn't know any other answer.

But I do remember that, from that time on, I have always regarded vegetables as medicine, just as most children regarded almost everything that is supposed to be good for them as medicine.

There are only two exceptions to my dislike for vegetables: asparagus and cauliflower.

I can never get enough asparagus and eat it every day during the season. And cauliflower—give it to me with drawn butter or hollandaise sauce or creamed or au gratin and I like it.

Many years ago my folks gave a dinner party.

My sister, I, and a couple of young cousins had to sit at a small table a bit away from the main table.

One of the courses of the dinner was luscious white asparagus with boiled ham.

I saw it being served to the guests and my mouth began to water.

Finally my portion was served. There were those luscious stalks, all in a row, and I began to eat.

Then I let out a yell.

"That isn't asparagus," I yelled.

"Mother tried to shush me, but I wouldn't be shushed."

So I was sent to bed and Mother was terribly embarrassed.

Later she told me that I was a very bad boy. They had run out of asparagus, and so that the guests might not notice it we kids were given macaroni instead, because, from the distance macaroni looked just like white asparagus.

I have never been able to touch macaroni since then, although I do love spaghetti.

There is really no sense to all of this. It just came to me because I read an item about somebody inventing a "suculometer" that tells when vegetables are at their best and ready to be picked. Suculometer or not—I still don't like vegetables. (Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The World and the Mud Puddles

A DISTINGUISHED GENTLEMAN

Our distinguished Attorney General is making much ado about battling monopolies and threatening railroads with prosecutions on charges of collecting too much freight from the government during the war. But he seems to have a blind spot when it comes to the prosecution of the vote frauds in the Kansas City Congressional district in which President Truman's protegee, Enoch Axtell, defeated Roger Slaughter in the Primary, only to be himself defeated in the election by a Republican nominee.

The State grand jury after eight weeks of investigation, indicted seventy-one members of the Pendergast machine on various counts of vote-buying, ballot-box stuffing and falsified returns. Mr. Clark, as Attorney General was well aware of the situation; inasmuch as the election involved the choice of a member of Congress, it was a matter of federal concern. Yet in the face of columns of evidence published in The Kansas City Star and the confirmation of many of these charges by a grand jury, there has been no move by the Department of Justice to intervene in the case.

Capping Climax

Capping the climax of the inquiry comes the news that thieves broke down two steel doors of the City Board of Elections Commissioners' office and made away with the ballots, poll books and tally sheets of the Axtell-Slaughter contest, thus removing evidence gathered over a period of two months by the grand jury. If anything could offer convincing evidence of wholesale fraud and the guilt of the Pendergast outfit, this theft would seem to do so. The Attorney General may think he is doing his superior officer a favor by ignoring this flagrant corruption in a congressional election. Exposure of the criminality of those supporting Mr. Truman's protegee naturally would be somewhat embarrassing. But it may prove far more embarrassing to leave the impression with the people that the President of the United States is unconcerned about the prosecution of vote frauds.

Great Game Of Politics

Truman Did Not Stand Up

WASHINGTON, June 24.—There are two notable things about those two veto messages of Mr. Truman—one on tax reduction; the other on the labor bill. In both, the case he makes for himself is weak and unconvincing. Poor on the tax bill, it is worse on labor. In neither does he tell the full truth as to his reasons.

THE evidence is overwhelming that on both measures—but particularly on the labor bill—politics swayed Mr. Truman far more than any consideration of the merits or demerits of the measures. This statement does him no injustice. To ignore the fact is to be completely unrealistic. There is no way to alibi him out of it. Nor is it easy to exaggerate the disillusionment of vast numbers of citizens in all sections who believed in his basic courage and ability to disregard political threats in the general interests.

THE disappointing truth is that he just did not stand up. It is true that on the tax bill there were some sound arguments for disapproval. But their soundness for Mr. Truman was diminished by two facts. One was that in 1945 he had done exactly what he assailed the Republicans for trying in 1947. In the former year, Mr. Truman, with his own party in control of Congress, exempted some millions of individuals from all income taxes and completely wiped out the excess-profit tax on corporations.

THE latter not only deprived the Treasury of enormous revenue which could have been used for debt reduction but enabled many corporations to make abnormal profits, thus providing an excuse for the wave of crippling strikes with which the country was afflicted in 1946. In addition, Mr. Truman's tax reason was weakened by his implied promise himself to initiate tax reduction next year—which is election year. Clearly, this opened the door for a charge of politics hard to refute. But where the President went wholly political was in his use of the argument, so loudly mouthed by all the left-wing radicals, that it was designed to afford greater relief to rich taxpayers in the higher brackets than to poor ones in the lower. This was sheer political demagoguery and involved a distortion of facts and figures to present any plausibility at all. Its lack of foundation was so apparent that its adoption by the President was dismaying to many of his friends.

HOWEVER, it was in his labor bill veto and speech that politics was unashamed and undisguised. And what makes it more difficult to forgive is that politically it was so utterly unintelligent. In no other way could Mr. Truman have lost more political strength and gained less. Certainly, he has deeply offended many thousands of Democrats who have been voting Republican nationally for twelve years and wanted to support him in 1948. And he temporarily pleased only the labor and radical elements, whose leaders were pretty emphatically repudiated in the 1946 elections.

CLEARLY, the dishonest, violent, highly organized, highly financed campaign put on by the CIO, the AFL, the Communists, the professional liberal groups and the "bleeding-heart" journalists scared Mr. Truman. Combine this with the frightening antics of Mr. Henry Wallace and the short-sighted advice of presidential counselors of the Hannegan-Sullivan-Schwelienbach type, who believe the one Democratic hope is in continued submission to the CIO bosses, and it is easy to understand how completely the merits of the bill were obscured. Almost literally he crumpled under the pressure. This was as clearly shown by the strained indictment of the message as by the somewhat hysterical radio address in which he sought to justify himself. Both, as Senator Taft declared, might have been written for him by the CIO general counsel, Mr. Lee Pressman.

HE had to resort to the arguments of the labor propagandists and press agents. He had to twist the words as well as the purpose of the bill. He had to misrepresent its character. He had to resort to ingenious and fallacious points to make the veto seem respectable—and he did not succeed. He was disingenuous and uncandid. He ignored the fact that he himself had made a far more "drastic" and "punitive" request for labor legislation last year—and been turned down. And he failed to utter a single word in disapproval of the gross abuse of union power by which the comfort, health and general welfare of the public had been menaced in the past year.

IT is as impossible convincingly to defend Mr. Truman from the charge of politics in this matter as it is to regard his arguments as sound. He has not reflected the sentiment of the American people. He has not reflected the sentiment of his own party, a majority of which in both branches of Congress supported the bill. Probably his veto will be overridden. Certainly, it should be. But should it be sustained, it must be plain to the American people that their only hope for legislation that will protect them from the labor bullies whose unrestricted power is a constant threat to the economic life of the nation is through the election of a Republican President. It is discouraging, indeed, to realize that after the labor politicians have lost their grip on Congress and it has regained its independence, they are still dominant in the White House.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

British Prime Minister Attlee's tongue-lashing characterization of Communist-inspired "democracies" as a travesty of the word raised new speculation today as to the possibility of increased left and right-wing collaboration in Western Europe.

Week-end speeches in England, coupled with developments in France and Italy that favored the conservative cause indicated that for the present at least militant communism may have worn out its welcome in this area.

On the British front, Laborite and arch-conservative Anthony Eden spoke in almost identical generalizations against the obstructionist tactics of Moscow. Eden virtually echoed a recent House of Commons address by Foreign Secretary Bevin, who said that Britain would not let any Soviet hesitation, designed confusion or delay stand in the way of early implementation of Secretary of State Marshall's "self-aid" plan for European reconstruction.

In France, Premier Paul Ramadier pushed forward with his determined plans to institute a balanced and sensible economy no matter how severely all classes are effected.

And in Italy, the constituent assembly accorded a vote of confidence to the government of Premier Alcide De Gasperi which despite vast difficulties has functioned astonishingly well with both Communists and Socialists excluded from cabinet posts.

In time of crisis, it has been traditional for Great Britain to weld divergent political factors into a national entity by appointment of a coalition government. While a crisis of major proportions now exists, it is too much to say that a coalition might be in prospect. But there is no denying the fact that leading Laborites and leading conservatives now are functioning in closer collaboration and continuity than at any time since the end of the war. Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 24.—(INS)—It seems rather silly, but a broken leg, a quarrel with her husband and fate have added up to make an overnight movie star of Blonde Doris Day. She's a singing sensation.

Without any stage or screen experience, she's now in the midst of Director Michael Curtiz's second independent production at Warner's, "Romance in High C".

So certain is Mike that she'll click in a big way that he's considering postponing his next picture, starring Joan Fontaine, so that he can make another one with Doris.

Said Mike, an Academy Award winner:

"Two pictures in a row would make Doris a big star".

He continued:

"You wouldn't think her story could happen in Hollywood, but it did."

"I was sitting in my office one day getting ready for this picture. I needed a fine singer. I was thinking of engaging someone like Ginny Simms or Mary Martin."

"All of a sudden into my office walks a freckled-faced girl, Doris. A little guy, an agent, was with her."

"I said, 'what do you want?'"

"She said, 'I want a job.'"

"I asked her, what she'd done, and she replied, 'well, I just broke up with my husband.'"

"I told her I didn't care if she had, but had she any screen experience. She said no. Any stage experience. She said no. I said, 'Then what in the world can you do.'"

"She said, 'I can sing.'"

"So she sang for me. I fell flat on my face. She was that wonderful."

"A couple of days later I tested her. When I showed the tests to Jack Warner, he fell on his face, too. She was that good."

"You see that was fate. I needed someone and she walked right into my office. She'd only been in Hollywood a couple of days."

"That's what makes movie success, half fate and half talent."

"The screen needs new faces."

Like other girls for whom fate has intervened, Doris can't believe it's happened to her.

But, she filled in the rest of the story.

She's 23, blonde and blue eyed. She is 5 feet, 5½ inches tall and weighs 118 pounds. She is a native of Cincinnati.

Her ambition was to be a dancer. She started taking lessons when she was five.

When she was 15 a train accident interrupted her dancing career. A leg was broken and it was more than a year before she fully recovered.

Doris explained:

"I had to do something with my time while I was lying there, so I took up singing. I suddenly decided that it would be much less work to earn a living singing than dancing."

Program Of City Recreation Board Is Explained By Director Art Alexander

SHOW PICTURES OF PLAYGROUNDS

New Castle Rotary Club had an interesting program Monday noon, following their weekly luncheon, when they were addressed by Art Alexander, director of recreation for the city of New Castle.

Mr. Alexander stated that many of the citizens here are aware there is a recreation program, but do not know its scope, and as pictures are better than the spoken word in a lot of cases, he was going to show them motion pictures taken last year, and explain them as they came along.

These pictures showed action shots of the thirteen playgrounds in the city, including the wading pool built by the residents of the West Side, for the kiddies in that community; the two city pools in Neshannock Creek and Big Run, and of the play day at the end of the season, when ice cream was given the youngsters and awards were made.

There are five members of the Recreation Board, he stated, two from city council, Mayor John F. Haven and Joe D. Alexander; two from the school board, Leslie Brindle and Roy Shira, and Don Thompson.

In 1944, with 12 playgrounds in use, the attendance during the year was 47,783. This had grown to 83,687 in 1946, and this year, with the 13 playgrounds and two pools, there has been an attendance of 19,458, indicating a probable attendance this year around 100,000.

Experts Band To Urge Arming Of Hemisphere

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(INS)—The administration Monday marshaled some of the nation's top ranking civilian and military officials to urge Congress to sanction the arming of the Western Hemisphere against the possibility of another war.

Civilian heads of the Army and Navy and their chief military aids were sent before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to implement President Truman's plea for "military cooperation of the American States."

It was reported that the administration hoped to convince Congress that action should be taken before adjournment on the legislation sent to Capitol Hill by the President May 26. Opposition has sprung up to the program and no legislation has yet been introduced in the Senate.

The House measure is sponsored by Rep. Eaton (R) N. J., committee chairman, and a companion bill ordinarily would be introduced in the upper chamber by Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Secretary of State Marshall headed the imposing array of officialdom sent to Capitol Hill to urge enactment of the legislation, one of whose main features is a provision authorizing this government to furnish other American nations, including Canada, with United States armaments.

"ROADSIDE REST" NEAR CLEARFIELD

A "roadside rest" has been opened by the Pennsylvania highway department. It is located in Clearfield county along the Lakes-to-Sea highway where a four-acre plot has been developed.

When this program is completed each county in the state will have at least one rest. These roadside rests are patterned after those set up in Ohio nearly 10 years ago.

Reveal Stalin Favored Taking Part In Parley

LONDON, June 24.—(INS)—Russian administration circles in Berlin revealed that Soviet Premier Stalin tipped the scale in favor of taking part in discussions with Britain and France on the Marshall plan.

The Reuter dispatch from the German capital said that the decision was made after long debate in the Kremlin. The other leading participants were identified as Foreign Minister Molotov and Vice Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

Russian officials in Berlin were said to be not optimistic over the success of the impending talks. They believe, however, the talks may produce some points for further international negotiation.

Magnetometer May Help Oil Research

PITTSBURGH, June 24.—(INS)—"Rosie", perhaps the only female to accompany Adm. Byrd to the Antarctic, may become a new heroine to oil-searchers.

Technically known as a magnetometer, "Rosie" was first used by World War II airmen to detect submerged submarines. The instrument is sensitive enough to detect the slightest change in the earth's magnetism. Such changes make "Rosie" sing and during the war, her song was an invitation to dropping bombs.

Geophysicists hope to use the instrument to fly over wide expanses of land to determine the make-up of the earth. Adm. Byrd used several in his surveys of the frozen South Polar regions. Several large oil companies are now using them to prospect over South America and rugged sections of the United States and Canada.

Freeborne Home After Long Tour

Norman E. Freeborne, stage technician, of New Castle, is home after an extended tour as chief electrician for "Holiday on Ice". The attraction played through the southern and southwestern states, spent six weeks in Mexico and played a 21-day stand in Mexico City.

The residents of Mexico City and Monterey were enthusiastic about the show in that the entire action is done on ice. To them it was an amazing thing to see a complete theatrical cast perform on skates on artificial ice. The stadium in which the show played drew 15,000 or more spectators each night.

Mr. Freeborne is uncertain as to his future plans. "Holiday on Ice" takes to the road again in mid-July and he is undecided as yet as to whether he will tour this fall and winter.

Increase Noted On Relief Rolls

HARRISBURG, June 24.—(INS)—An increase of approximately 14,400 persons in the state's relief rolls between January and mid-June was disclosed Monday in a report of the Department of Public Assistance.

During the week ended June 14, the DPA added, there were 301,620 persons dependent upon the state, a decrease of 66 persons from the previous week.

In a review of the relief picture during May, Secretary Frank A. Robbins said 69 per cent of the 11,633 applications for state aid had been approved.

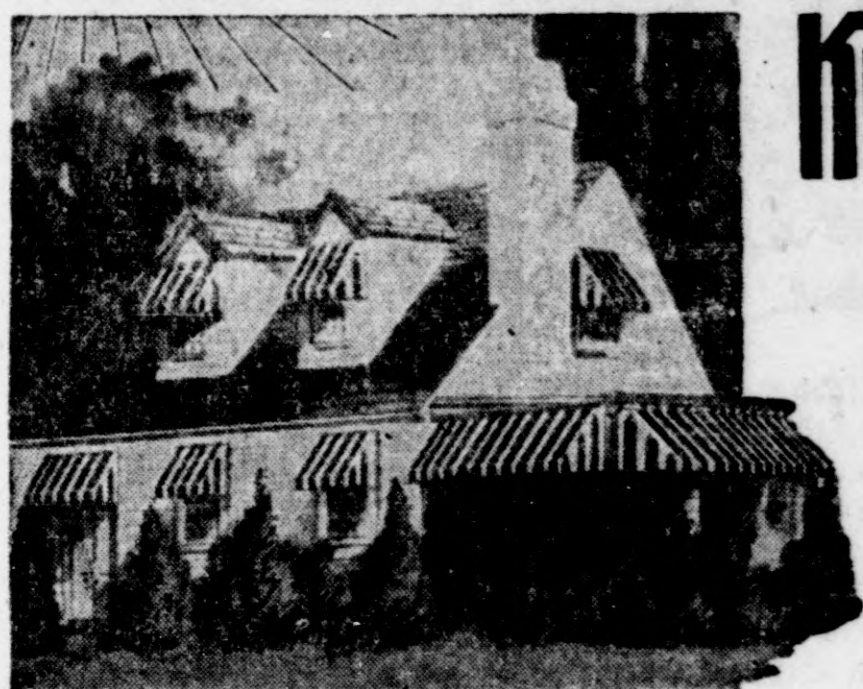

"Changes in the assistance rolls are the net effect of a multitude of economic and social problems," said Robbins. "The public assistance program is designed to help people help themselves. In many instances, this help is of short duration."

He said there are approximately 50,400 persons on general assistance, 94,000 on old age assistance rolls, but with the aged, the physically handicapped, and young children, the period of financial help is necessarily longer.

This season more than 123 million boxes of oranges were produced in the United States.

Expect 8,000 In Schools of City In Coming Year

About 560 Registered For First Grade For Term Opening
In Fall

Dr. F. L. Burton, superintendent of New Castle public schools, expects a total enrollment of about 8,000 pupils in the public schools here, next September.

The Senior High enrollment for 1946-47 was 1,688, and teaching staffs anticipate about 2,000 for September, 1947. Franklin Junior High had 1,064 pupils last year, and Dr. Burton has set 1,200 as the probable roll for this coming year.
Washington Junior High had 659 students enrolled, and this figure is expected to remain about the same.
The enrollments for the grade schools in the city are not expected to fluctuate either.

In May 1946 all first graders for September of that year were asked to register. This registration simplified the first day of school about 90%. The number of pupils who registered were 514, and the number who attended in September were 665.

This plan, though new, was highly successful. It was carried out again this year, with 560 registering for first grade.

Students Protest Return To Work Of Married Women

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 24.—
High school students have another bugaboo this summer. Hundreds of Youngstown women are returning to the job market in an effort to bolster hubby's pay, which, apparently, is being stretched to the limit as prices soar. And this brought clamorous protests from the high school set.

Married women, the students declared, should stay at home and attend to their work there. "Give us high school graduates a chance,"

the youths asked.
According to managers A. E. Mc-Cully of the Ohio State Employment Service, most of the 20,000 women who worked in the mills during the war and then retired, are now trying to get back on the payroll. They are turning to pre-marriage occupations, such as office work, clerking and other tasks.

Probe Blaze In Beaver County

NEW BRIGHTON, June 24.—Firemen are investigating a fire which destroyed the home of the Louis J.
Brauns in Daugherty township, near here. The fire occurred on the night of June 22.

The family returned from a drive to find the house and contents a smoldering ruin. The damage is estimated at $10,000.

The fire started near the roof and spread through the house rapidly. Neighbors and firemen saved the pet dog and a few furnishings.
Firemen were handicapped by lack of water.

throw his weight around shortly after the June 30 deadline. In his struggle to become head of the whole labor movement, he has to demonstrate that he can get more than the other leaders, who have settled for so-called cost-of-living increases without strikes.

Under the terms of the bill passed by Congress, the president could get an injunction on the ground that a coal strike would constitute a national emergency. This would serve to delay a strike for from 60 to 80 days.

But the law could not prevent
Lewis from striking in the fall.
There are those who believe that the door may have been deliberately left open for Lewis. In any event, a coal strike is possible under the Taft-Hartley bill, and if it comes in the fall, the timing will be far more advantageous for the UMW boss.

In the face of such a situation,
if the law is finally on the statute books, the president can point to the same weakness that he called attention to in his veto message.
He can say that there is nothing in the law to stop a coal strike.

Powerful Comeback

The Republicans, however, will have a very powerful political comeback. You can almost write today the kind of speech that Senator Taft will make. He will say that obviously the president never wanted the law to work. Didn't he veto it? Didn't he make it clear that he was not in sympathy with the objectives of the overwhelming majorities in both houses of congress?

A great many variations can be played on that theme. The kicker at the end is obvious—why the only way to get labor peace is to elect a Republican president who will honestly and sincerely try to enforce the law passed by a Republican Congress. If those kind of speeches are made against the background of a prolonged coal shutdown, with all of its true dire consequences at home and abroad, the effect in many opinion would be devastating.

This political line will be underscored by another important fact.
The officials who must try to enforce the law all believed it unworkable and said so in memoranda urging a veto.

From the point of view of Republican strategy, the consequences of rejection and no law at all were obvious. Then, of course, they could say that the Democrats had destroyed the measure intended to bring about labor peace.

When the powers of government are divided, with one party in control in Congress and another party in the White House, it is the president who almost always loses.
That was the lesson of Herbert
Hoover in 1931 and '32.

The tragedy is that these years of the great divide should come when there are so many crucial issues up for decision. One of them is free collective bargaining and the role of the labor union in our society. The politics of a pre-election year will not help much in the solution.

There have been a number of illuminating examples.

British socialists plumping for appeasement of Soviet Russia in eastern Europe have been soundly slapped by their own leaders. Bevin used far stronger terms in opposing Soviet tactics than even Winston Churchill utilized in his "iron curtain" speech at Fulton, Mo.

Realizing that a solution of the Indian problem was imperative, Laborite Attlee placed supreme responsibility in the hands of a paragon of conservatism and aristocratic lineage—Admiral the Viscount Viceroy Mountbatten, a cousin of the king and pillar of the crown.

All these events are not necessarily disconnected.
American annoyance over Soviet strong-arm methods in Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania is being reflected upon the European scene with a greater degree of emphasis almost daily. Communism is opposed to thrive on disunity and internal difficulties. For the present at least, the kremlin seems unwittingly to be achieving just exactly the opposite effects in the countries of Europe that stand as western barricades against its doctrines.

was nicknamed "Farmer George,"

School Districts Given Authority To Revise Budgets

HARRISBURG, June 24.—(INS)—
Pennsylvania school districts today were authorized to revise their budgets at any time to grant temporary or emergency salary increases to teachers and other employees.

Permission was extended under legislation signed by Gov. James H. Duff to validate cost of living bonuses heretofore granted.

The measure, sponsored by Sen.
William S. Rahauter (D) Allegheny, permitted school boards to tap unexpected balances of appropriations and unappropriated revenues or to transact loans to finance raises.

Tonsil Season At New Castle Hospital

Pictured above are three of the tonsil patients recently operated on at the New Castle Hospital during the tonsil operations "rush". Miss Jennie Biega, day nurse of the fourth floor surgical ward, is assisting little Theodore Kuch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kuch, 1227 rear Cascade street, in adjusting his ice bag around his throat. Six-year old Donna Jean Cletta (center) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cletta, 507 Cunningham avenue, seems to be interested in the procedure. John Nene, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nene, 1618 Wilson avenue, however, is intent on the manipulations of the New Castle News photographer.

Come June and good ol' summer time, schools are dismissed—and then the little Marys and Johnnies get ready to have their tonsils yanked.

At least that is what statistics indicate at the New Castle Hospital.

Every year, almost habitually, reservations for t. and a's, (tonsillectomies and adenoids) are received at the hospital, days and weeks before the last day of school.

Perhaps the thoughtful parents want to be ready for the family trip when pop's vacation is at hand. Or perhaps, parents want to "jump the gun" and have the operation and its effects over, and well in hand before the swimming season starts. Or . . . but whatever the reason may be, the summer schedule in the hospital's operating rooms, is booked with the daily, sometimes hourly minor t. and a's.

Most All In Hospitals

Years ago, tonsillectomies were performed in doctors' offices. Today, rare are the cases that are not performed in hospitals, where sterile and up-to-date equipment are at the doctors' fingertips. Too, hospitalization plans have made terms convenient, financially and otherwise to have little Mary and Johnny brought to the hospital.

Hospital authorities report that from May, 1945, to June 1946 (the hospital year) there were 506 t. and a's performed at the hospital. The summer months in 1945 started with 110 cases in June; July—158; August—134; and September—32. July is the peak month, with the greatest number of reservations; and hospital personnel recall the month to be the "rush" month for tonsil operations. In 1946, t. and a's numbered: May—31; June—84; July—94; August—84, and September—9.

Under Two Years

The youngest patient in the New Castle Hospital was under two years of age. Rarely are cases received after 40 years of age, due to the fact that the tonsils become atrophied (smaller) with age, and the infection is lessened considerably.

According to reliable sources tonsils if infected once, as a rule, will always remain infected and become a foci (source of infection) until removed. The infection may be the result of streptococcus, which can in turn effect the heart muscles and kidneys, resulting in a serious illness.

All this is probably over Mary's and Johnny's head. The only thing they know, is that his or her tonsils have got to come out, and that they'll be able to eat all the ice cream they want "afterwards."

Sometimes even this promise doesn't make the patient feel any too good.

But—June is here—school is out . . . and that's where we came in . . .

Early History Of New Castle

FOUNDING

The year 1948 will be one of special significance to the people of New Castle since it will mark the 150th anniversary of the founding of this settlement in 1798 by John Carlyle Stewart.

The ground on which the town was laid out was a part of the "donation lands" set aside for the soldiers of Pennsylvania who had served in the Revolution. Through imperfect surveying, about 400 acres in and around what is now the city of New Castle was not included in any lot number. This "gore" between lots was called a "vacancy." On this land Stewart laid out the plan for the city.

At that time all this region was in Allegheny County, which extended all the way to Lake Erie. When Mercer County was formed in 1800, Lawrence was not formed until 1849, the south boundary of that county passed through the town. This necessitated a new plan, which was drawn up for Stewart by John McWhorter, who had come with Stewart from New Castle, Delaware. The latter had better instruments than Stewart for this purpose.

By unanimous consent the name given to the new town was New Castle. The sale of lots not being profitable at that time, the lots were disposed of by lottery.

W. A. HARRIMAN Secretary of Commerce Says:

Keep Turning In Your Used Fats

Used cooking fats have represented a substantial part of our total industrial fat supply. The more than 600 million pounds of used fats that American homemakers have saved and turned in since 1942 has been of vital importance. It is a record of which every woman who contributed may well be very proud.

The United States still lacks adequate supplies of fats and oils. And we are particularly short of industrial fats. Many, if not most, of the things we all use and wear require industrial fats, or the products of industrial fats, such as soaps and glycerine, in their manufacture.

So won't you keep up your good work and continue to save and turn in every possible pound of used fat?

News Executives On World Flight Reach Shanghai

NANKING, June 24.—(INS)—A party of American publishers and editors took time off today from their globe-girdling flight for a side trip to Nanking and an interview with President Chiang Kai-Shek.

The news executives arrived in Shanghai from Manila aboard the Pan-American World Airways Clipper America, which is making a trail-blazing flight for the line's round-the-world passenger service. They flew to Nanking this afternoon in two Chinese National Airways planes, and returned to Shanghai after a short visit.

The party first visited the American embassy to congratulate American Ambassador Leighton Stuart on his seventy-first birthday. Then they were honored with a reception and tea by Chinese Premier Chang Chun.

The interview with President Chiang followed, and the group then left immediately for Shanghai. Their clipper is expected to arrive at New York City next Monday, completing the global trip.

Acres of blue prints are drawn before a test model airplane is built. Landing gears alone on one model require as many as 500 drawings. The blue prints for one plane can cover a four-lane highway for a distance of 20 miles.

Named To Head Sons Of Italy Parade Here On Fourth Of July

NOTABLES COMING FOR CONVENTION

Alfonso Scarazzo will be the grand marshal for the Fourth of July parade, which will be a part of the convention activities of the Sons of Italy, it was announced today by Francis J. Augustine, parade chairman. The division marshals and aides will be announced later, as will the name of the honorary marshal.

The parade will move at two o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Augustine said, and will be in five divisions. Seven bands have been retained for the parade, among them the state championship Clearfield Pa. American Legion band. About twenty local organizations are joining with the Sons of Italy in the parade and many of the 400 lodges in the state will have delegations.

Grand Venerable Here
Judge Felix Forte of the Massachusetts State Supreme Court, the Grand Venerable of the Sons of Italy will be in attendance at the convention while the state Venerable, Judge Eugene Alessandrini of Philadelphia will preside over the business sessions.

The convention opens July 2 with a registration and reception in the Castleton Hotel. Business sessions will be held in the Cathedral.

On Tuesday night the convention ball will be held in the Cathedral, with three orchestras providing a continuous flood of music. On the night of July 4 there will be an old fashioned fireworks display in Cascade Park and on Saturday night July 5 the convention banquet will be held in the Cathedral. Special soloists for this occasion will be John Dinello, tenor, Gus Mamoris, baritone, Stella Chelekis, soprano and Mrs. Marjorie Brenner, accompanist all of Youngstown.

General Chairman B. J. Biondi said today that the guest list would include some nationally known men and women. Michael Priscilla, chair of housing said all hotel rooms in the city were reserved, and scores of homes have been opened to house delegates and guests. The convention shows evidence already of being the largest one ever held by the Pennsylvania Sons of Italy.

Drunken Driving Takes Seven Lives On Roads In April

HARRISBURG, June 24.—(INS)—Liquor was to blame for seven deaths on Pennsylvania highways during April, the state bureau of highway safety has reported.

One accident caused by drinking killed the driver and a passenger, the bureau said. Three drivers were killed in separate accidents and two pedestrians met death in other accidents attributed to drinking during the month.

One man was killed while operating a motorcycle under the influence of liquor, the report stated, another was "intoxicated, fell asleep, ran off the road and burned to death," and the third was operating a stolen car while intoxicated.

A workman was killed while working on the highway when struck by an automobile driven by an intoxicated operator, and a pedestrian who had been drinking met death when he jumped into the path of a vehicle, the report added. In the multiple death accident, the bureau reported that the car was traveling at 90 miles an hour when it ran off the road into a guard rail.

TIME TO CHECK BUILDING PLANS

If you are one of the half million farm families in the United States expecting to build a new house or remodel an old one in the near future, now is a good time to check your planning.

Plans that were started several years ago may need revision. Perhaps the fireplace that you dreamed of a few years ago may not be just what you want today.

Do your plans, the size of your lot, and the possessions you already have hit it off together? Few families can discard all old furnishings and start with everything new, but the new house and many of the old possessions must be made to look as if they were meant for each other.

It may be necessary to cut down on some of the dreamed of luxuries when it comes to materials, but this is better than cutting down on quality. Materials that must be replaced in a few years are a poor buy. It isn't only the materials that go into a house, but labor, too. Even labor of the family costs money and time.

Houses are designed around living, not the way the architect lives, but the way you and your family want to live. Decide how you want your house to be, then make it flexible to take care of changing interests. Allow each member of the family to have his share in making the plans for the new house.

BOCA RATON FIELD, Fla., June 24.—Pfc. William R. Church, son of William F. Church, New Castle, Pa., has been selected "student of the week" in the radar mechanics department at the radar school, Boca Baton Army Air Field, Fla., this week.

Pfc. Church entered the service February 11, 1946, and reported to this station January 20, 1947. Before reporting to Boca Baton Field he was stationed at various fields in the U. S. Among these are Keesler Field, Miss.; Chanute Field, Ill.; Scott Field, Ill., and Kelly Field, Texas.

Prior to his entrance into the service, Pfc. Church was employed as a machinist by Johnson Bronze Co., South Mill street, New Castle. He attended Shenango high school.

Captain of Industry

Meet Butch—Pres., Treas., and Field Force of the One Man Odd Jobs Co., Uninc. Take a good look at him—for Butch is America.

Butch wants a bicycle. Lots of lawn and lemonade and baby-sitting lie between Butch and that bike, but we're betting on the boy. He has energy, vision, and our national habit of working hard for what he wants. He's American business—in miniature.

There are many names for Butch's philosophy. You can call it Free Enterprise, Opportunity, Democracy, or Capitalism, if you want.

But, whatever the name, America owes it much. For our most valuable natural resource lies in the ambition and initiative of Americans like Butch.

As great publications have grown from the dreams of young men with old hand-presses—and great industries from the products of grubby little cellar workshops—the electric industry had small beginnings, too. Like our own company. A few men with vision strung the first small lines. People with faith risked their savings. Better and better service, at lower and lower cost, created more and more jobs—and carried the benefits of electric living to more and more people.

Free enterprise and hard work will bring Butch and his bike together. They are what built America and the American way of life, which is the highest standard of living in the world. No nation on earth has found a satisfactory substitute for that combination.

Family expenses go up as fast as family income, and both ends just seem to barely meet. Is that the way it is with you? If so, try this. Tuck a good part (at least 10%) of your income away in your bank account before you start to spend each month. Get by on the rest. It works like magic.

Excellent Flying Weather Brings Many Local Pilots To New Castle Airport To Train

The excellent flying weather of the past few days has brought an unusual round of activity at the New Castle airport, attaches of Wilson Aviation reported today.

Those pilots completing their private pilot courses under the G. I. Bill of Rights program included Dean E. Smith and Ralph McCurdy, both of New Castle. John L. Smith of 321 Hazelroft avenue and Fred L. Norton, 510 Carley avenue, Sharon, also completed the private pilot's course and received their licenses.

Harry Aven, 402 Fern avenue, who is enrolled in the commercial pilot's course, completed a cross-country flight over the week-end. Aven left the New Castle airport and landed at Lafayette, Ind., returning late Sunday.

Another week-end visitor to the airport over the past week-end was Pilot L. Pfau of Chicago, who was flying a DC-3 owned by Warren Wright of Chicago. The ship was flown from Cincinnati to Akron, O., where the Wright family attended the Firestone-Ford wedding. The pilot visited relatives and friends in this city.

William T. Piper, head of the Piper Aircraft Co., Lockhaven, Pa., flying a new Piper super cruiser, was forced to make an emergency landing on a farm near Bessemer during the week-end. The plane manufacturer was en route to Dayton, Ind., to attend an air show in which he was featured.

Completing a safe landing in a farmer's field, he was driven to the airport to await the arrival of another plane from his factory. He visited Mr. and Mrs. Findley Wilson during his stay here. Mr. Piper portrays a bright future for private flying, stating that the plane will get families to inaccessible points in a short time.

Double Rent But Russians Remain In N. Y. Building

NEW YORK, June 24.—(INS)—Soviet Russia continued today to occupy its Consulate building in the fashionable East Side district just off Fifth avenue but the rent was doubled.

Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge, niece of the late John D. Rockefeller and new owner of the building, boosted the annual rent from $15,000 to $30,000. Judge Albert H. Holland, attorney for Mrs. Dodge said that negotiations with the Russian authorities had been harmonious. "There has been no controversy of any kind," he said.

Ruth Baker Pratt, former congresswoman, who sold the building to Mrs. Dodge was engaged with several legal disputes with the Russians principally over elevators in the building which had been condemned by the City Building department.

SALE APPROVED OF LONGCHAMPS RESTAURANT CHAIN

NEW YORK, June 24.—(INS)—Sale of the Longchamps restaurants for $7 million was reported approved today by the federal government.

Uncle Sam has a major interest in the sale of the fashionable eating places because the restaurants owe the government some $3,500,000 in taxes, penalties and interest. The chain of restaurants was purchased by Edward and Julius Levin, brothers operating the two Brasserie restaurants in the Broadway sector.

After the government obligations are met Henry Lustig, president of Longchamps and his family will receive approximately $3,500,000 it was said. Lustig is now free on bail pending an appeal of an income tax evasion conviction.

Coal was discovered on Cape Breton Island by Sebastian Cabot in 1498, but development of coal mines in the Western Hemisphere did not come until many years later.

Probe Mail Order Firecrackers Sent To State From Ohio

SHARON, June 24.—Action is being taken to investigate the mail order sale of firecrackers in this area by an Ohio concern. This plan of the authorities follows the arrest Sunday in Sharpville of two Sharon youths who were shooting fireworks.

One boy admitted to Sharon police that he had purchased the crackers from an Ohio mail order firm and had sold a number of the packages to his companion.

District Attorney E. C. Moon of Mercer ruled a year ago that out-of-state concerns should be prosecuted for shipping firecrackers into Pennsylvania where state laws ban their sale or use.

The baby, John McGreevy, fell out of his buggy into 12 feet of water in Belmont Harbor yesterday. Leonard heard the baby's sister, Alma, 12, scream. He leaped into the water and fished out John who was resuscitated at nearby Columbus hospital.

But Leonard lost his heavy-lens glasses and may have to grope for his diploma when it is handed him tomorrow at the Lane Technical High school graduation exercises.

ASKS $20,000 FOR TRESSES

CHICAGO, June 24.—(INS)—Strawberry blonde, 21-year-old Wanda Kullig put a price today of $20,000 on her tresses.

She sought that amount from the Edgewater hospital in a suit in which she charged all her "beautiful hair" was cut off when she underwent a mastoid operation last Feb. 27 although her physician had said only a small patch would be snipped.

Because of the snipping, Miss Kullig claimed she had to give up her job as a dentist's receptionist and won't be able to find employment for at least a year until the blonde tresses grow back.

Her finger-tip veil fell from a beaded Juliet cap, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Fruit Crop Outlook For County Discussed

When the frost occurred and re-occurred in May, farmers worried about their fruit and grain crops. They didn't know then that the frost was not their worst enemy. According to L. C. Dayton, farm agent, it has been the constant wet weather and not the frost that has damaged and retarded progress of fruit and grain. Hail, too, has taken its toll in the northern and Great Lakes areas.

Mr. Dayton states that very few sweet cherries have been picked in southern parts of the country, and that there will be practically none in Lawrence county. This, however, is a result of the frost. Sour cherries, later in blossoming-fared better, and will produce almost normal yields. The peach crop will be "fair", and apples, though spotty, will produce larger crops than for the past two years.

Though all field work has been delayed by the wet weather, farmers are only now planting corn. May 5 to June 5 is the regular corn planting season, but Mr. Dayton says that few farmers were that fortunate this year. Hay and wheat will both have large yields. Possibly wheat will strike a record in production such as has been its progress.

Only a small portion of oats acreage has been sown this year, and according to Mr. Dayton, the yield will be late and small. Not only has Lawrence county been retarded by weather conditions, but according to weather bureau and crop reporting circulars, the wet weather has covered a general large area.

"Unless we have extremely favorable weather, the balance of the year in which Mr. Truman's political enemy, former Rep. Roger LaSalle, was 'purged' from the Democratic lists.

Sweeping Probes Aimed At Government Agencies

By JAMES LEE

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Sen. Homer Ferguson (R. Mich.), the Senate's top investigator, Monday disclosed plans for a sweeping series of Congressional probes targeted at government waste, inefficiency, and possible corruption.

The State Department, the Justice Department, the War Assets Administration, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and other key agencies will be subjected to searching inquiry.

Ferguson, who came to the Senate four years ago with a national reputation as Michigan's "one-man grand jury" now spearheads the Senate War Investigating Committee once headed by President Truman.

He heads a judiciary committee which the Senate this week is expected to empower to investigate last summer's Missouri primary election in which Mr. Truman's political enemy, former Rep. Roger LaSalle, was "purged" from the Democratic lists.

Ferguson is ready to hurl his full power into an attempt to show that the Justice Department under Attorney General Tom C. Clark sought to "whitewash" election frauds.

Range To Be Wide

The Senator said that the range of his investigations will be wide—and that developments may be even more sensational than last summer's disclosure of the May-Garson war profits case.

He added that some of the probes will be "international" in nature. And the tanned, white-haired, broad-shouldered cleanup expert will pull no punches.

Ferguson declared:

"I have been seeking—and I expect to find—a way to bring within the scope of the investigations such situations as that in which the nation and its armed forces face a critical petroleum shortage while Russian tankers load huge quantities of gasoline and oil at American ports.

"I want to discover, too, why it is that the administration talks free enterprise and does everything it can do to work against it."

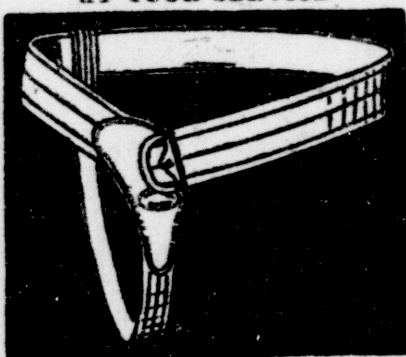

The Senator said that he is particularly interested also in pushing an inquiry into war surplus disposal, and the RFP backing of the Howard Hughes super-airplane, in which millions have been invested but which has yet to take to the air.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
 Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out the poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

There are no restrictions on those who design and build Cadillacs—save to provide the finest personal transportation it is practical to produce. Consequently, Cadillac excels in all the things which make a motor car a joy to possess and a pleasure to drive.

If you are waiting for a new Cadillac—please be assured that every effort is being made to further production. Demand is so great, however, that some delay in delivery is still inevitable. But hold to your purpose! There is no substitute for a Cadillac.

Expect To Lay Concrete In Two Weeks On Route 18; Old Concrete Removed Entirely

Progress is being made by employees of the New Castle Duntile company on the New Castle-New Wilmington highway or traffic route 18, north of the city. Workmen are engaged in preparing the old roadbed for the new concrete road the entire length of the road from Walmo to the intersection of the West Middlesex-Sharon road, where the project ends.

The $498,733 job involves the laying of three lanes of concrete on a part of the old road site, four lanes at one point and a one-mile relocation of the road near the New Castle Country club, where a sharp curve existed in the old road.

A new culvert has been completed near Walmo by the workmen and foundations for the new 141-foot bridge at the site of the relocated road have been poured. If weather conditions permit, concrete pouring will get under way at Walmo in approximately two weeks time, it was learned from the Duntile company this morning.

During the progress of the work, motorists are being detoured over the Highland Heights road to New Wilmington.

Jay-Bees And Evans City Advance To Second Round Of NBC Tourney

Wayne A. C.—Universals, New Galilee—Bessemer, Will Clash Tonight

Edgar Painter Hits First Home Run In Flaherty Field, With Bases Full

Jake LeBec Makes Pitching Debut Here For Bronze And Does Fine Job

National Baseball Congress tournament fans at P. J. Flaherty field last night got a thrill in the third inning, of the first game, when J. Edgar Painter, the burly Evans City catcher, belted one over the left center field fence, about 375 feet, for a home run with the bases full.

The terrific clout was the first home run of the year at the new ball park and helped put Evans City in the second round of the tourney as they went on to defeat the Koppel team of the Beaver county league 7-6.

Good Games Tonight
The first round in the tourney will continue this evening with two more good games on the menu, in the first game at 6 o'clock the Wayne A. C. of the Lawrence County league will play the University Pottery of the New Castle City League.

At 8:30 o'clock in the second game an all Lawrence County loop battle occurs, New Galilee tangles with Bessemer.

Deputy Commissioner Ralph H. Gardner announced today that the tourney will be seven-inning games. The games starting Friday will be quarter-final games, and will be nine-inning games.

The University Pottery is the team that upset the Butler Cubs last Saturday in a swell game 4-1, while Bessemer defeated the Beaver Falls Legion Saturday, 9-7. Manager Jim Hardesty will take the mound this evening for Bessemer, the veteran southpaw being one of the Bessemer aces. In all probability Manager Huck Davies of the Universals will not doubt go back with his star moundsman Eddie Stewart tonight.

Stewart set the Butler Cubs down last night Saturday.

Jay-Bees Impressive
Johnson Bronze Jay-Bees won their second game in the tourney last night with the initial, showing of their right-handed mounds star Jake LeBec throwing a shutout (five-hitter, as the Bronze downed the Sharpville Legion team 6 to 0 in the night-cap contest on the Monday card.

The Jay-Bees team was impressive in racking up their second win under Manager Mike Diffley and his assistant "Flea" Rodenbaugh, two very strong baseball men. Johnny "Sluggo" Magasiak continued his heavy hitting and sparkling fielding last night getting a triple and covering short like a gazelle. Johnny Marshall also hit hard last night with a double and single, and J. Razzano and Gennock also had doubles.

Visitors Hustle
Sharpville had a young hustling ball club, the boys trying hard but lacking the polish of the Bronzes. LeBec had six strikeouts, three in one inning. The Jay-Bees had eight hits off of Joe Jackson, bunching them in the second and fifth inning for five of the runs.

In the field the Jay-Bees played errorless ball, handling many difficult chances with the aplomb of veterans.

Evans City Good
Evans City the team that opened the tourney with a win over the Cornell Dairy of Beaver Falls, had another fine club on the field last night with Earl Ripper veteran right-hander doing a nice pitching job in winning his second tourney game. He gave up seven hits but had ragged support in spots.

Evans City's big inning was the third in which Painter the mastodon

Criticises State Game Commission

Tomkin Asserts Request For Additional Funds For Body Not Justified

BILL TO INCREASE LICENSE IS DROPPED

HARRISBURG, June 24.—(INS)—Serious charges were lodged today against the state game commission by Rep. Edwin W. Tomkins (R) Cameron.

Filed with the house during the closing minutes of the 137th session of the General Assembly, Tomkins charged stemmed from a debate with Rep. W. Henry Elder (R) Lycoming, over a bill—later defeated—which would have raised hunting license fees.

Tomkins' petition did not ask an investigation but claimed the commission's request for additional funds was not justified. The petition asserted:

"I do say when the time of game commission personnel is used to prepare decoration for the private hunting lodge of a member that it is time to inquire the need for additional funds."

"I do say when the time of game commission personnel is used to furnish and prepare information for publication in privately copyrighted pamphlet that it is time to inquire the need for additional funds."

"I do say when a game farm superintendent is reprimanded by the president of the game commission for exceeding his quota in the production of game, while staying within his budget, that it is time to inquire into the need for additional funds."

"I do say when sportsmen's clubs throughout the state, in order to have any game, must place it there at their own expense, I think it is time to inquire into the management of the game commission."

"I do say that if the game commission has enough money that they will send over to this house a bill, which was never introduced, asking an appropriation of $100,000 with which to purchase a piece of land in the city of Harrisburg, upon which to later erect a game administration building, that it is time to inquire the need for additional funds."

Proposed Increase Dropped
Legislation proposing separate licenses for hunting and trapping under increased permit fees was scuttled by the senate.

The bill was dropped after a group of Republican senators insisted on amendments that would have boosted the $2 fee for a combination resident license to $2.10 each for big and small game permits and $3.10 for a combination license. A conference report proposing a triple-privilege license costing $2.60 was turned down.

The increases allegedly were to finance land purchase and development and stocking by the game commission, but the majority of senators contended the commission had sufficient funds to carry out the projects.

Penn State's September 20 football date with Washington State marks its earliest opening game in years.

"Jersey Joe" Wins; Fails to Impress

Is Given Decision Over Joe Maxim After 10 Dull Rounds

HOLLYWOOD, June 24.—(INS)—Jersey Joe Walcott's 10-round split decision victory over Cleveland's Joe Maxim left Hollywood boxing fans little impressed today at Walcott's fighting ability.

The bout, first to be staged in Crooner Frank Sinatra's Hollywood Square Gardens, Inc., arena was supposed to reveal how strong an opponent the winner would be for heavyweight champion Joe Louis.

But after 10 dull rounds last night, most of the 9800 fans discounted both men's abilities.

Referee Reggie Gilmore and Judge Mushy Callahan gave their votes to Walcott while Judge Benjie Whitman ruled for Maxim.

Maxim exhibited slightly better boxing ability but Walcott was the stronger of the two and more aggressive.

The bout was the third meeting between the two heavyweights. Maxim won the first last-August 28 at Camden, N. J., but Walcott took the second battle last January 6 at Philadelphia.

Walcott, the 10 to 7 pre-fight favorite, weighed 192 pounds, Maxim 182.

Seybold Takes Trapshoot Prize

HOMESTEAD, Pa., June 24.—(INS)—Sebe Seybold of Marienville, Pa., today held the main prize of the third tournament of the Western Pennsylvania Trapshooters' league.

Seybold broke 98 of 100 birds in the tournament at the Homestead Park Rod and Gun club yesterday to edge out John Faircloth of Pittsburgh by one point. Gene Holland and Charles Steiner, also of Pittsburgh, tied for third with scores of 96.

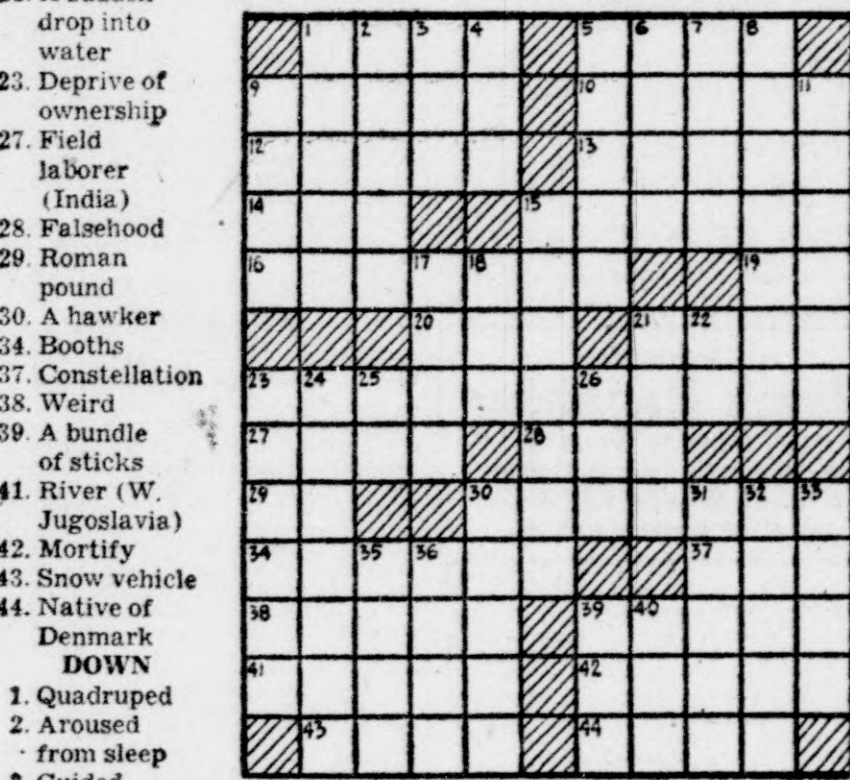

Freya and Friga are two goddesses in northern mythology. Friga, the older, is found among nearly all Germanic peoples, while Freya is a later creation of the Icelandic. Friga is the supreme goddess, wife of Odin, and presides over marriages. Freya is the goddess of love.

Cecil Hudson Defeats Harris

Long Lefts and Right Chops Overcome Harris Longer Experience

PITTSBURGH, June 24.—(INS)—Cecil Hudson, dusky middleweight from Los Angeles, Cal., who has been anathema to Pittsburgh fighters, today held another victory over one of them—this time veteran Ossie (Bulldog) Harris.

Hudson easily won almost every round of a ten-round main event with Harris at Pittsburgh's Punch Bowl last night. Harris, despite his greater experience, could do little more than defend himself from the long lefts and chopping rights of the speeding Hudson.

Harris, at 162, had a three-pound weight edge.

In the semi-final, Johnny Villanueva, San Antonio, Tex., lightweight, and Richie Callura of Pittsburgh fought six sizzling rounds with Callura getting the nod.

Ralph Ricker, former Penn State tackle, will be in command of Dickinson College football again in 1947.

Court House

Registration Increasing

July 19 Last Day For Registering To Vote At Fall Primary

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

With the last day to register for the primary election, July 19, getting closer, the interest in registration is increasing. In the week closing Saturday, June 21, there were 256 registrations made, more than there were in a month some time ago. Of the 256 registered, 135 were Democratic, 120 were Republican and 1 was No Party. For the first week in some time, the Democrats led in registration.

Registration to vote is such an easy matter it seems odd so many fail to do so. In addition to the permanent registration office which is open the year round, special days are set before elections in which voters of various districts can register without coming to the court house.

Last week there were two such days in Shenango township. This week Hillsville and New Wilmington get special days and the other sections of the country will be given similar special days.

But—when Saturday, July 19 rolls around and the registration books are closed for that day, they are closed until after the September 9 primary.

The straw poll began as an intermittent practice of United States journalism in 1824. In that year the Harrisburg Pennsylvanian sent out reporters to inquire among citizens whether they were going to vote for Henry Clay, Andrew Jackson, John Quincy Adams or William H. Crawford for president.

Sharpsville Boosts For Shenango Dam

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., June 24.—Sharpsville council is deeply interested in the proposed Shenango river flood prevention dam near here. It has taken the lead in this area in an effort to get Congress to appropriate funds for the construction of this dam.

Council adopted a resolution asking Pennsylvania Senators Edward Martin and Francis Myers and Congressman Carroll D. Kearns to include the dam in the list of federal appropriations made for flood control projects.

Surveys made by army engineers show that the dam will give Shenango Valley communities nearly ninety per cent protection against floods. At present this area has 75 per cent protection from the Pymatuning dam.

VFW In State Reading Plans For Encampment

HARRISBURG, June 24.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars were putting the finishing touches today to the agenda of the 1947 annual encampment scheduled to be held July 16-19 at Risburg.

More than 10,000 members were expected by the VFW to join in discussions centering around veterans' programs enacted by the general assembly, including the initial step toward granting maximum $500 bonuses to World War II service men.

Gov. James H. Duff and U. S. Sen. Edward Martin will be asked to address the convention, the VFW reported.

Frank Hilton, of Womelsdorf, senior vice commander, was slated to be elected successor to State Commander John U. Shroyer, of Shamokin.

Closely Guarding Big Wrecked Plane

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., June 24.—(INS)—The West Virginia State Guard is maintaining a 24-hour watch over the wreckage of a Capitol Airlines transport which crashed near Martinsburg June 13, carrying 50 persons to their deaths.

Major Edgar M. Sites, in charge of the watch, said the civil aeronautics board requested it to prevent souvenir-seekers from carrying off portions of the wreckage.

Both the CAA and the company are continuing to check the wreckage in hope of finding clues as to the cause of the crash.

North Beaver Fire Department To Meet

On Thursday evening, members of the North Beaver Township Volunteer Fire Department, will meet at 8 o'clock, in the Firemen's headquarters in Mt. Jackson.

The department has received from the State Department, approval of their selected name.

Plans will be discussed for the erection of a fire-house. Lunch will be served by the auxiliary.

Japanese Beetle Quarantine Fixed

HARRISBURG, June 24.—(INS)—The summer-long quarantine against Japanese beetles was fixed by Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst to begin June 24 in Pennsylvania.

Effective Tuesday, and until restrictions are lifted in late September, federal or state permits must be obtained for bulk shipments of cut flowers, fruits and vegetables originating in 13 southeastern counties.

This year's regulations, Horst explained, embraced all of Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Lancaster, Montgomery and Philadelphia counties and parts of Berks, Cumberland, Dauphin, Lehigh, Northampton and York counties.

The beetles were known to exist in all parts of the state except limited areas in Erie, Crawford and Mercer counties.

The 1947 quarantine was not expanded for the first time in "many years" Horst added.

The emergence of beetles from the ground has been delayed, he added, by cool, wet weather.
